About Mosaic

"The intonation was faultless, the dynamic range was astonishing, and the sound produced by these 23 singers was truly beautiful. This is a choir to look out for."

Carla Rees, MusicWeb International

Mosaic brings together a group of singers, based in and around St Albans, each with a wealth of experience in a wide range of choirs in the UK and abroad.

Mosaic have built a repertoire that covers pretty much everything from renaissance polyphony to contemporary classics: Byrd and Berlin, Victoria and Vaughan Williams, Gesualdo and Gershwin and many, many more. And they have pieced this all together to produce performances to the highest professional standards. So it's not surprising that Mosaic are much in demand for concerts, cathedral services, corporate events ... anywhere, where good music, well-sung is appreciated and enjoyed.

Mosaic is greatly honoured to have as its Patrons the distinguished and internationally renowned musicians Dr Peter Hurford, Andrew Lucas and Dr Christopher Robinson and especially delighted that Julian Lloyd Webber has recently become the choir's President.

About the Multiple Sclerosis Trust

The Multiple Sclerosis [MS] Trust is committed to making a difference to the lives of over 100,000 people who are living with MS now. We believe that with access to the right information and support, individuals and families affected by MS should be able to live their lives to the full.

In order to help people achieve this, we provide information that is tailored to what people want to know; education for health professionals about what people with MS need; research into better management of MS and support for anyone affected by MS.

A small, national charity, we passionately believe that the best results for people with MS come from informed patients working together with specialist health professionals. Our range of award winning publications and our team of information professionals are there to answer any questions people have about their condition and we run a complete education programme for all MS specialists who come into post.

The MS Trust's research budget concentrates on research that can make a difference to the lives of people who are living with MS now; research which brings essential therapies to people who have to cope with MS every day, or which demonstrates how better services can be provided. In addition, we campaign both at a local and national level for the improvement of MS services and to ensure the NHS is planning adequate services for people with MS.
